J. C. Rockwell's Sunny South Company

J. C. Rockwell's Sunny South company, which is announced to appear in the opera house, Orleans, Monday evening, Nov. 22d, is the colored organization that appeared here about two years ago and at that time it gave unbounded satisfaction, in fact it was generally conceded to be one of the most pleasing performances ever presented on the local stage. This season the performance is absolutely new and original in every detail. It is bristling with new, novel and entertaining features and it is brim full of laughable situations, charming musical numbers and excellent specialties. If you want to have a good laugh, enjoy the evening, and go home whistling, happy and contented, this is where you will get full value for your money. Mr. Rockwell does not believe in putting the greater part of his salary allotment into one or two acts and allowing the balance of the performance to suffer through the employment of cheaper ones, which always disgust the experienced patron, but he has found that the expenditure of money for the purpose of making each act and detail complete pays twice over in the box office receipts. This explains why the performances of this company are always up to the minute and send the audience home feeling satisfied that they have had full value for their money. This organization is accompanied by a solo concert band and a superb orchestra. The band will head the Kootown parade at noon. The prices of admission have been placed at 25, 35 and 50 cents. Seats can now be secured at Austin's drug store. adv.
